Aliria Muñoz Rascón Ph.D, RN, CCRN-K

Assistant Director at Edson Global Health Collaboratory; Clinical Associate Professor
Phoenix, Arizona Area

Summary

I am honored to serve as Clinical Associate Professor in the pre-licensure program at the Edson College of Nursing and Health Innovation. My additional role as Assistant Director of the Edson Global Health Collaboratory focuses on increasing the international footprint of the college by providing study abroad, service learning, cultural immersion, and international opportunities for students and faculty.

Along with teaching Critical Care, Evidence Based Practice, Health and Illness Concepts, Immersion Clinical Practice, Pharmacology, the Senior Capstone course and others, I enjoy working with BSN students at all levels. I also cherish my previous practice in the Intensive Care Unit where I specialized in pulmonary hypertension and medical ICU patients. My concurrent experience in the Trauma, Surgical, and Neurological ICUs involved caring for patients undergoing Rotoprone and Oscillator therapy, CRRT, rapid transfusion, and other complex interventions.
