Simi Jacob

BSN RN, (MSN candidate)
Dallas/Fort Worth Area

Summary

Holds a Bachelor's of Science in Nursing degree from Texas Tech University Health Science Center in Lubbock. Specialized and graduated from a neonatal ICU residency in June 2016 and have been working in a Level III NICU ever since. I thoroughly enjoy what I do as a nurse and have learned a wealth of information within my last four years in bedside care. I am ready for my next challenge and am excited for the opportunities that are waiting for me in the medical field.

As a NICU nurse, we perform life-sustaining care on the smallest of premature infants. Duties include administering medications, monitoring vital signs and providing vital nutrients to newborns. Because most premature and sick newborns' lungs are not fully developed, we must ensure that infants are breathing and maturing properly. We work with upper-level nurses and physicians and assist in treatment plans and examinations. We keep, maintain and update records of the patient's care. In addition to medical care, NICU RNs communicate with and educate parents on day-to-day operations as well as home-care procedures.
