Darlington Igbokwe

RN- psychiatric Emergency Center at JPS Health Network
Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex

Summary

I have a passion for nursing and helping to prevent disease, restore health, alleviate suffering and promote independence in patients as well as helping them to maintain their dignity. I want to explore the other fields in nursing such as travel nursing and specializing in public health nursing as well as attain my certification as an occupational health nurse where I can be privileged in promoting health education, counseling, conducting environmental surveillance for health hazards and providing direct nursing care to the employees and the public. In all, education is an empowerment and I strongly believe is the foundation of building a better life and education possibilities.
