As a registered nurse, I have deep knowledge of the medical industry and its consumers — which allows me to deliver credible, informative, and engaging news stories.

I also enjoy educating consumers and helping businesses reach their content marketing goals through patient education, articles, e-books, video scripting, and more.

If you're seeking healthcare writing that connects with consumers, I would love to hear from you. Just contact me here on LinkedIn, and I will respond promptly.

All the Best,

Experiencia

KM Health Writing

Freelance Healthcare Journalist & Content Writer

enero de 2019 - Present (1 año 7 meses)

Atlanta, Georgia, United States

I create blog articles, consumer guides, news stories, e-books, newsletter articles, website copy, and other forms of content for the healthcare industry. Clients include hospitals, health systems, medical groups, online publications, private practices, health insurers, digital health providers, and medical staffing agencies. I'm also a regular contributor to Verywell Health, a leading online resource for health and wellness information.

Topics of interest: COVID-19 news, telemedicine, senior care, disease prevention, critical care, surgery, mental health, wellness, health policy news, public health, career development, and more.
