Building relationships, teaching, and impacting medical professionals

B. Braun Medical
Clinical Education Specialist
October 2015 - April 2016 (7 months)

I travel all over the country and continent to educate and engage nurses and medical staff about products that are new to their hospital.

I personally go around to every unit in the hospital and teach staff about products that are about to begin using.

I instruct the staff on what makes our products great and how to properly use products.

I also instruct in the classroom, pending on what line of products are being introduced to that particular hospital.
